Getting It Together

With my mother's death recently, I was reminded of the importance of

- Funeral Home
- All Persons involved in the Funeral Service
- Employer or Benefits Officer if receiving retirement benefits

Section II – Health and Advanced Directives

Your health care history, information, wishes, and insurance are important if there is a time when you are unable to make decisions. This section allows you to list:

- Past Surgeries
- Past Conditions
- Present Conditions
- Physicians and Specialists
- Pharmacy
- Prescription Medications
- Over the Counter Medications
- Health Insurance Policy
- Dental Policy
- Eye Care Policy
- Advanced Directives
- Any Wishes on Health Care

Be sure to list any contact information as well as policy numbers.

Section III – Advisors and Financial Information

The following advisors and financial institutions all need to be notified of a person's death. Ask if a certified copy of the death certificate is required to get an accurate number of copies needed.

- Contacts
 - Financial Advisor
 - Attorney
 - CPA/Accountant
 - Stockbroker(s)
 - Mortgage Holder
 - Property Casualty Insurance Agent
 - Banker
 - Utilities – Electric, Gas, Garbage, Internet, etc.

- Assets – list each account and where to find the documents. Brokers and Agents should be listed under the Contacts area of this section as well identifying which accounts they supervise.

- Retirement Accounts
 - › Qualified Plans
 - › Social Security
 - › IRA – Traditional, Roth, SEP, SIMPLE
- Annuities
- Military Retirement Benefits
- Military Survivor Benefits
- Stock Purchases, Options, Puts
- Bonds
- Money Market Accounts
- Real Estate/Property
- Frequent Flyer Miles
- Money Owed to You
- Loans Forgiven
- Lawsuits
- Personal Property
 - › Especially valuable property
 - › If property is to go to a specific heir, list that heir
- Other Assets

- Liabilities – list each account and where to find documents. Brokers and Agents should be listed under the Contacts area of this section as well identifying which accounts they supervise.
 - Mortgage Holders
 - Liens on any Property
 - Taxes Owed
 - Loans – Personal, Auto, etc.
 - Credit Cards
 - Department Cards
 - Ongoing obligations you wish to continue
 - Other Liabilities

pre-planning. We will all die – we know this. But, it is another matter to make plans for when that time comes. A well-organized Legacy Document is a true gift to your loved ones.

There are several ways to organize the information in your Legacy Document. Some use a drawer, 3-ring binder, folder, or a file saved online or on the computer (one great place is www.pasbf.org). Be sure to inform a trusted individual where to find the document when the time comes!

Safety deposit boxes are excellent for keep important items. However, remember your loved ones may not have access to the safety deposit box for several weeks following a death. Therefore, do not keep documents loved ones will need immediately following a death.

I have divided the document in sections. You may organize it as you wish. This is one way to do it.

Section I – Immediate Contacts

It can be overwhelming when an emergency or death occurs. Who needs to be contacted? Do you have contact numbers?

The following are persons/organizations to contact within the first few days following a death. Include contact information, and make a plan to update the information on a regular basis.

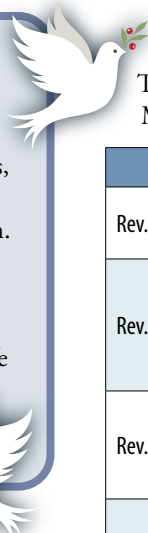

Immediate Contacts (need to be contacted within a day) would include:

- Immediate Family
- Close Friends
- Church/Pastor

Thank You

On behalf of my entire family, thank you for your thoughts, prayers, cards, and phone calls regarding the death of my mother, Dixie Anderson. While we grieve her death, we also celebrate her life and the many lessons and memories we have. We also celebrate the assurance of the life she enjoys now and forever more.

Section IV – Pension, Annuities, Life Insurance, and Investments

List all your retirement accounts with contact information. This would include all pension/defined benefit plans as well as all defined contribution plans (IRA, 401(k), 403(b), etc.). Include the policy/account numbers or the location where they can be found.

If you have purchased actual stocks or bonds, give specific directions to the location of the certificates. A good place is a safety deposit box since they will not necessarily be needed immediately.

For each account, make sure you list any beneficiaries. It is advisable to list both primary and secondary beneficiaries along with their contact information. This is especially important for life insurance policies.

A good place to keep the policies and records for these accounts is in a safe or safety deposit box. By listing contact information in your Legacy Document, your trustee can notify the appropriate person and begin the process to transfer the assets.

Section V – Regular Bills and Services

Having a list of the regular bills that you pay can be very helpful, especially if live alone in your own home. Include contact information and account numbers.

This section has become even more important with automatic withdraws that take place. These withdraws need to be stopped, but of course there will still be future charges. However, a trustee will want to get control of all the outflow from your account.

A good way to make an accurate list is to write down all the bills you pay in one month. Examples include:

- Electric Bill
- Water
- Sewer

Endless Line of Splendor

The following persons have joined The Endless Line of Splendor since our last Society Page. May we celebrate their lives and remember their family and friends as they grieve their loss.

- Cable
- Phone, including cell phone
- Subscriptions
- Auto insurance
- Charities

Encourage your family members to notify trusted neighbors and the police if the house will be empty.

Section VI – Social Media

With the growth of social media, companies are wrestling with issues after a person's death. This can be avoided by including all your email addresses and social media accounts (Facebook, Twitter, etc.) along with the usernames and passwords for each. This will enable your trustee to shut down each account. Without the usernames and passwords, it becomes very difficult to close the accounts.

Section VII – Final Services

You can get as detailed as you wish in planning your final services. Some plans have details regarding not only the funeral home and cemetery plot but lists instructions on the service and grave marker. The more detail you list here, the easier it is on family and loved ones who would otherwise have to make these decisions.

Include in this section any suggestions for a funeral/memorial service and your obituary. This would include Scripture readings, hymns/songs, prayers, and/or preferences for location (church or funeral home).

Any Prepay Documents would be included here with contact information and account/policy numbers.

Section VIII – Legacy

Include a copy of your will and/or trust documents along with your attorney's name and contact information. All of your assets and liabilities are listed elsewhere in this document.

Your life is much more than contact information, documents, and account information. You may include any statements you wish to make to your children, friends, and heirs. It can be statements about your own life and the wishes you have for each. It may include advice or specific instructions regarding how you wish things to be done. This is your area to include any last words regarding your life and property.

It will take time organizing all this information. But, it will be well with your time and effort to do it!

"May knowing Jesus bring you
PEACE to bless each day,
HOPE for each tomorrow,
and JOY in every season."

Dear PASBF partners:

THANK YOU to all the churches, pastors and lay persons who have made a gift this year to support the important ministry of PASBF. We are committed to taking care of those who served us over the years. I am so grateful for your support and prayers. The Board and Staff are committed to being good stewards of your gifts and our ministry to the nearly 1300 retired pastors, spouses and surviving spouses.

As we complete this 2022 calendar year, I would like to encourage each person receiving this newsletter to consider a Christmas gift in memory of or in honor of a loved one. Every amount is important to our current and future ministries. Your special gifts go into our permanent endowment to take care of our present retirees and the many who will be retiring in the next few years. (We have been retiring about 30 clergy per year!)

Some year-end ideas for giving:

If you have not received your RMD from an IRA, speak with your plan administrator and have a portion or all of it sent to PASBF. You meet your RMD for this year—and save paying any income tax on the withdrawal. Win-Win—and of course, your gift enables PASBF to fund our important ministries. A triple win!

Do you own appreciated stocks and bonds? Consider donating them to PASBF and avoid Capital Gains taxes!

Do you have life insurance policies that you no longer need? Consider donating them and take the tax deduction.

Do you have appreciated home/land/farms you no longer need? Talk to us!

Do you have a Donor Advised Fund? Remember PASBF before year end.

Consider a Charitable Gift Annuity—you receive a lifetime income on one or two lives, and a significant first year tax deduction!

Please remember that we must receive all gifts by the end of the year, postmarked by Dec 31, 2022 to receive a 2022 charitable tax deduction!

If you have any questions, please contact me asap!
